

Nurit Gazit, Director

Nurit Gazit is a management consultant with wide-ranging business experience focusing on business strategy, management and organizational development. She has in-depth knowledge and broad professional experience in technology-driven industries.

For the last eight years Ms. Gazit has represented Enterprise Florida in Israel. In November 2006 she received a special award in recognition of her dedication throughout the years representing Enterprise Florida in Israel.

Ms. Gazit has worked with senior and executive managers in Israel for the past 20 years. She was part of the executive management development team for Europe at Digital Equipment Corp., an international high-tech company. She served as senior faculty member at the Jerusalem Institute of Management (affiliated with Harvard Business School), where she worked with managers from leading Israeli companies in a variety of industries from the private and public sectors. Ms. Gazit serves on the board of directors of a company in the private sector and has extensive experience working with VC firms.

Recently, Ms. Gazit was part of the faculty of the Institute of Management at the Technion-Israel Institute of Technology Institute. The Institute of Management is dedicated to significantly improving the performance of Israeli high-tech companies serving the global market. As part of the Institute, Ms. Gazit has been actively involved in developing a program for emerging companies. Through this assignment she has been deeply involved in identifying the distinct needs of Israeli start-up companies and incubators. One of her most recent assignments was to recruit candidates for a Technology Excellence Fellowship Program sponsored by the U.S.-Israel High-Tech Commission.

She received her MBA from Tel Aviv University's Business School.
