A LETTER TO OUR MEMBERS

Kelly Smallridge

President of the Business Development Board

Dear Members:

The first quarter of the Business Development Board's 2006-2007 fiscal year set the pace for what is sure to be a very successful time for the organization. In addition to announcing the retention of 1,750 jobs, the relocation of 450 more and the creation of 640 new positions, the BDB won its first-ever award from ITFlorida.

The Excellence in New Business Recruitment award from ITFlorida recognizes a company, government agency or economic development organization that shows success in recruiting IT (information technology) or IT-enabled businesses to the state of Florida. Nominees for the award demonstrate innovative programs for bringing new technology business to Florida, and/or effective methods for retaining existing business.

The BDB received the award for its work with a number of IT-related companies, projects and organizations including:

- DayJet Last year year, the BDB was successful in assisting DayJet with its expansion and plans to locate its corporate headquarters in Boca Raton. The company will provide affordable and accessible "per-seat, on-demand" jet travel. Founded by Ed Iacobucci (founder and past chairman of Citrix Systems, Inc.), DayJet draws upon a strong IT background to develop modeling and logistical systems. The company will create 350 new, high-wage, high tech positions in Palm Beach County.
- Project Checkmate This joint venture between IBM Corporation and The Scripps Research Institute will combine the science and research of Scripps with the IT capabilities of IBM. Key to the success of Project Checkmate is its ability to model structural interactions at an unprecedented scale using the world's fastest supercomputer, IBM's BlueGene, and then rapidly test those predictions in various biological models. The scientific understanding gained from these efforts will allow scientists to anticipate the most virulent genetic changes in a virus, and prepare effective vaccines and therapeutics in advance of those changes.
- Office Depot The BDB worked with Office Depot to assist the company with its plans to expand its headquarters which will retain approximately 1,750 headquarter jobs in Palm Beach County and create 430 new ones. This expansion is a result of the company's need for a larger facility to better incorporate business units, allow for more employment growth, establish a Latin American headquarters unit, and space to install modern international communications equipment. The new campus in Boca Raton will house its U.S., global and Latin American headquarters.
- iCoast The BDB is one of the founding members of the iCoast, a regional initiative leading South Florida as a global science and technology hub. The organization focuses on social innovation, entrepreneurship and a knowledge-based workforce to facilitate investment and drive economic growth.

For the last 10 years, the BDB has been strongly focused on strengthening the communications/IT cluster in Palm Beach County. It's one of our core industries, and we're thrilled to be recognized for our efforts. We hope this is just the first of many accolades for Palm Beach County during our 2006-2007 fiscal year.

Sincerely,

of Applefield Waxman
Commercial Real Estate

COMMITTED TO PALM BEACH COUNTY

APPLEFIELD WAXMAN COMMERCIAL REAL ESTATE

“We firmly believe in Palm Beach County, as a place to live, work and raise our families,” says Peter Applefield, co-founder of Applefield Waxman Commercial Real Estate. “We conduct virtually all our business in Palm Beach County. Our area combines a great quality of life with a first-class economic platform.”

For over twenty years, Applefield has been an active member of the Business Development Board. He serves on the BDB’s Board of Directors and chairs the Industrial Revenue Bond Committee. “I am a passionate advocate of the BDB. Kelly Smallridge and her staff are incredibly dedicated and have done a terrific job in bringing quality businesses to Palm Beach County.”

Local Knowledge and Experience

When Peter Applefield and Brian Waxman founded Applefield Waxman in 2002, they set out to create the finest full-service commercial real estate firm in Palm Beach County. Since then, the firm has grown to a staff of twenty-five professionals, and represents fifty-three commercial buildings with a total market value of $200 million. The firm offers core business segments of brokerage, property management and investment services. Its headquarters are located in West Palm Beach.

Applefield Waxman’s professionals are highly experienced real estate operators with expertise beyond the real estate sector, in accounting, advertising, finance and law. These skills enable the firm to provide comprehensive transaction services. “Our clients value the internal, streamlined process,” says Mali Liberty, who manages the company’s finance operations.

Applefield Waxman’s knowledge of the Palm Beach County market is vital to its success. “In our business, there is no substitute for local knowledge,” says David Knott, a principal of the company who co-manages its brokerage division. “We are extremely familiar with the properties, we understand the sentiments of the various municipalities and we know the local professionals.”

Community Involvement

Applefield Waxman enjoys deep ties to the local community. Besides his involvement with the BDB, Peter Applefield serves on the Palm Beach County Commission on Affordable Housing and is a founding member and past president of the Realtors Commercial Society of Palm Beach County. Co-founder, Brian Waxman, is a member of the Palm Beach County Land Development Regulation Advisory Board, the Economic Council of Palm Beach County and the West Palm Beach Downtown Development Authority. He serves on the board of trustees at The Benjamin School, and is a member of the school’s development committee, co-chair of the endowment committee and president of the alumni council.

Many of the firm’s professionals also are active in the local community. Notable endeavors include mentorship at Junior Achievement, membership in the Realtors Commercial Society of Palm Beach County, the Chamber of Commerce of the Palm Beaches, the Economic Forum, the Young Professionals of the North Palm Beach Chamber of Commerce, the Youngs Friends of the Norton Museum of Art and the Young Friends of the Kravis Center. “Community involvement is an essential principle of our company philosophy,” says Brian Waxman.

Unique Culture

Applefield Waxman’s success is partly due to its unique culture. The firm operates in a non-traditional manner. “Our individual office doors are always open and no one has a title,” says Waxman. “We operate as a team, and encourage employee ownership and involvement in all key decisions. We created an environment where our professionals enjoy their work and are given every chance to succeed.”

Making an Imprint

Applefield Waxman made its mark upon Palm Beach County by representing quality buildings and businesses, and investing with a core group of institutions and individual investors.

Notable clients of the firm include: Wackenhut, Kimley Horn, State Farm, Allstate, ReMax, Daily Business Review, Sun-Sentinel, IKON Document Systems, JetBlue, Maschmeyer Concrete, LabCorp, HCA/Columbia Hospital, Broadway Real Estate Partners, Junior Achievement, Health Care District of Palm Beach County and the United States Veteran’s Administration.

This past year, Applefield Waxman completed numerous sale and lease transactions, successfully managed a large portfolio of properties within its core market and rapidly advanced its investment offerings. Looking forward, the firm intends to grow its staff and service capabilities, increase its market coverage and seek out additional real estate opportunities. Says Applefield, “We are committed to Palm Beach County and we are here to stay.”

KAILAN INTERNATIONAL CONSULTANTS Modular Storage & More

In the past 15 years, Roy Mouton constructed a Palm Beach County business based on modular storage technology. As president and CEO of Kailan International Consultants in Loxahatchee, Mouton manages a design and manufacturing team that produces hundreds of strong and versatile storage buildings each year.

“Storage is often overlooked when planning new buildings or remodeling existing facilities,” Mouton said, “but it’s an important requirement for almost every organization. And our modular structures can easily be adapted to school classrooms as well.”

Today, Mouton markets his modular, portable structures to a growing number of federal, state, county and local governmental entities. “Our customer base ranges up and down the East Coast, with a primary focus on South Florida,” said Mouton, whose clientele includes Palm Beach County, the Palm Beach County School District and other local government entities.

When an organization requests a proposal, Mouton and his daughter Kai Mouton, vice president of administrative affairs, usually go to the project to determine the most appropriate size, location and other requirements. Storage units typically come equipped with doors, ventilation and partitions, and can be equipped for human use by adding windows, doors, air conditioning, restrooms, interior walls, lights and electrical outlets. Units are manufactured at the company’s plants in Georgia and Pennsylvania, shipped to the customer’s site and installed on a prepared foundation.

Mouton said being located in Palm Beach County provides two key advantages: easy access to regional markets and a high population growth rate, which increases local demand for storage. “Being a member of the Business Development Board also provides me with opportunities to expand my experience and knowledge base within the field,” he added.

Mouton founded his company in 1986 in Louisiana, after a trip to Seoul, South Korea, where he visited a manufacturer of cargo containers. Recognizing the potential for the container concept, Mouton designed a modular, eight-man cellblock for prison housing and had it manufactured by Dasung Industries.

“I was in that business for three years, then took the same concept and applied it to storage buildings,” said Mouton, who moved the company to Palm Beach County in 1990, in part because of the state’s low-tax environment. His team modified the flat roof on a ship’s cargo container or a prison cellblock to create an A-frame roof for multipurpose storage units.

Most recently, Kailan’s engineering team in Tallahassee created a modular classroom that can be used in fast-growing school districts. “That classroom design is now being evaluated by the state,” he said, “and we hope to introduce it in the 2007-08 school year.”

For more information about Kailan International Consultants, please contact Roy Mouton at (561) 791-3755.

Client-Focused Approach Drives Blue Chip Mortgage Wholesale

Buying a home can be one of the most stressful events in a person's life. From the initial research of neighborhoods, schools and area amenities to making an offer – maybe even a counteroffer – and finally signing a purchase contract for that incredible home, the process can be daunting.

Once the hunt for a home ends, the need to secure financing begins. This is where the experience of a company based on teamwork and integrity can make everything happen more smoothly. At Blue Chip Mortgage Wholesale, LLC (BCMW), teamwork and integrity are the foundation of the company, which began operations in 1994. The company prides itself on the partnerships it creates and the referrals it receives. BCMW works with a variety of different professionals in the real estate and financial services communities to bring the best services and products to its clients.

Peter Colangelo, the founder and president of BCMW, trains his loan consultants to do what you say you can, and not what you think you can do. "We work with many banks with hundreds of programs designed to meet individual needs," said Colangelo. By working with several financial institutions, the Blue Chip Mortgage Wholesale team can put together a customized financing package. "You need to obtain all of a client's information to make sure you are getting the best available financing for them. Doing a thorough job from the get-go saves time for us and our clients."

In 2005 BCMW became a mortgage lender, expanding and adding the capability to do business in Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, California and Colorado. The company has plans to continue its growth into other states during the coming years, focusing on the East Coast and working west. BCMW currently employs seven office personnel, and has approximately 40 loan consultants, most of whom work from the company's headquarters in Lantana.

BCMW's biggest focus has been in the creation of partnerships within the community, and working with other industries to support their clients. Professionals in the real estate, banking, financial planning and accounting fields have found it an asset to have a company on their team, willing to do what is right for their clients.

"I joined the Blue Chip team three years ago based on the experiences my clients were having with them," said Peter DeJoseph, inside sales manager. "The company's client-focused approach and the results it delivers make for a satisfying lending experience."

For more information about Blue Chip Mortgage Wholesale, contact Peter DeJoseph, Inside Sales Manager, at (561) 312-4017, or visit www.123mortgages.org.
